

VICTOR TEMPLE

When Victor's promising NBA career was cut short by an unfortunate accident, he quickly changed gears and founded The Temple of Boom, a recording business that has become a darling of the LA music scene. It was this success that attracted his sire, and tonight the rising media mogul finds himself not only undead but trying to walk a dangerous tightrope between uneasy alliances and conflicting loyalties. Victor's enterprises include several popular nightclubs and an expanding recording business that he promotes his labels talent, like the sensation Chocolate Drop, and also uses it to mask his unlife – hiding in plain sight, as he likes to call it. Recently he has taken the title of Baron of the Valley, claiming domain over the entire San Fernando Valley region of Los Angeles, with the support of the city's other Barons.

Lore

● But First, Let Me Take a

Selfie: You've managed to get close enough to the Baron to take a selfie with him recently, or even get yourself into one of his famous live stream feeds. Your Fame increases by one dot (gain one dot of Fame if you don't have any, or increase your existing Fame by one), and difficulties on Social roles involving Victor or someone connected to him are reduced by 1.

●● Members Only: You are on the door list all of Victor's nightclubs, including the newly-opened Maharani, the crown jewel of his LA barony. No waiting in line for you! You are welcome in the VIP area of these clubs, and have access to their Kindred-friendly features such as the secure day sleeping rooms and secret escape routes. Since you are always welcome, treat this as a one dot Haven (in addition to any other Haven you may possess).

●●● Temple of Boom: Whether through normal business arrangements or a personal connection to Victor, you are a visible part of the Temple of Boom family. You have access to the media company's recording studios, including technical and production help, and can use it to produce, record, distribute, promote, and sell original music. Your Fame increases by one dot (gain one dot of Fame if you don't have any, or increase your existing Fame by one).

●●●● This is Fine: Victor thinks highly enough of you to let you "borrow" one of his mortal security details. This team is comprised of four Gifted Mortals who come equipped with an armored SUV, handguns, and communications equipment. They will follow your instructions up to and including taking a bullet for you, but they will not willingly act against any specific orders Victor has given them. This loan lasts for the duration of the chronicle, and is the equivalent of four dots of Allies.

●●●●● Undisputed Baron of the Valley: Perhaps because you have a positive past association with Victor, or maybe in repayment of a boon, once per chronicle, you and your coterie may claim a haven and hunting rights in the Valley. You gain a Haven with 5 dots to distribute among its features as you wish. This benefit lasts until the end of the chronicle, and does not require you to forfeit any other domains you claim. You also gain one dot of Status (Anarch) and the Notorious (Camarilla) Flaw.

NELLI G

Fashion model Nelli Griffith had it all – looks, influence, a promising career – until she vanished under mysterious circumstances in San Francisco. Tonight Nelli is a player in the hidden political world of the Anarch baronies that vie for turf and power across LA, forging a strong alliance with Isaac Abrams, the Baron of Hollywood.

Nelli fled to LA to escape her sire, the infamously callous Chaz Price. There she founded Thorn, the avant garde fashion house, and the Griffith College School of Fashion, which she supports and protects from the shadows. Nelli hobnobs regularly with the rich and famous, and uses her fame and influence to deflect suspicion. When Chaz recently attempted to blackmail Nelli into cooperating with the Camarilla, the Valley Coterie sent him to the Final Death and freed her from his influence forever.

◀ Lore ▶

● Fabulous, Darling!: Nelli sees something interesting and worth encouraging in you; you don't even need a personal connection to benefit from her interest. Once per session she scores you an invitation/tickets for up to 4 people/vampires to the hottest happening in LA. You will be allowed in without question, even if the event or venue is normally off limits, enjoy great seats and full behind the scenes access.

●● Shopping Spree: Either because she admires your fashion sense or thinks you need help dressing more appropriately, Nelli grants you after-hours access to any branch of Thorn, her chain of couture retail boutiques. Your access includes the services of a personal shopper to help you look and feel your best, and $1,000 per month in store credit. If there is no branch of Thorn in your city, Nelli pulls strings to give you the equivalent privileges at a high-end boutique of your choice. Add a die to all appearance-based Social rolls when wearing any attire obtained.

●●● Custom Couture: To repay a favor that either she or an associate owes you, Nelli designs a unique couture outfit for you. This one-of-a-kind creation is unmistakably a Nelli G original and crafted specifically for you. Your dice pools for Seduction, Intimidation, or Persuasion attempts increase by 3 dice whenever you wear it.

●●●● The Flower Garden: Nelli wants you safe and lends you the services of one of her notable ghouls to protect you for the duration of a story. This individual, who comes with one of Nelli's signature flower code names, is the equivalent of a three dot Retainer. The ghoul may perform other services for you if they don't seem to conflict with Nelli's interests, but under no circumstances will they willingly act against her specific orders.

●●●●● Black Magic: Maybe you are important to Nelli, or maybe you have some dirt on her or someone she cares about. For this reason she will go out of her way, even against her own interests, to help you when things go bad. Once per chronicle, she agrees to arrange for the quiet elimination of any mortal target of your choice. Within a week the mortal will be gone. While the act will not leave any traces that injure the Masquerade, the mortal's absence might. The target must be in the LA area, and the Storyteller determines any future consequences arising from this action.

JASPER

The enigmatic Jasper declines to offer much detail about his life before the Embrace, saying only that he came from “back East” a few years ago. A master of stealth and ambush, tonight he earns his place in the city by helping his coterie protect its turf – and by providing muscle and information to any vampire who will meet his price. Among his frequent employers is the Baron of Hollywood.

Jasper makes his haven in a subterranean lair running deep under Griffith Park. The vast, complex labyrinth fascinates and terrifies Jasper, spending much of his time mapping safe routes and cataloguing its weird contents. The Nosferatu's mortal life came back to haunt him when he allowed a mortal lover who thought him dead to learn otherwise. His feelings toward Eva, the Tremere White Witch of Griffith Park, makes things more complex.

◀ Lore ▶

● Now You See Him...: At some point you have met Jasper in person, something few Kindred can say with any certainty. And you even managed to make a good impression! Difficulties for all Social rolls involving Jasper or anyone connected to him, in any domain, are reduced by 1.

● ● ...Now You Don't: Similar to Jasper you have made a personal and exceptional study of how to remain unseen even in very difficult circumstances. Gain two dice on all your Obfuscate rolls to resist detection, including those made by vampires using Sense the Unseen or other supernatural talents, or two dice in any rolls involve surveillance or clandestine gathering of information (your choice).

● ● ● Library Card: Because of a past or current association with you or someone close to you, Jasper allows you to borrow (not keep) books from his occult library. This gives you the equivalent of 3 dots in the Haven (Library) Merit. If you are not in Los Angeles physically, the Storyteller determines how much time is required for you to receive the books you're borrowing.

● ● ● ● Security Measures: If there is one thing Jasper values it is his privacy. Because you know him or one of his associates, he will give you the benefit of his personal experience in keeping your haven secure. Add three dots to your Domain's Portillon to represent the benefit of his knowledge, which includes guidance on how to construct escape routes, concealed entrances, and defenses against intruders."

● ● ● ● ● Labyrinthine: Though highly reclusive and famously taciturn, it is possible to earn Jasper's trust, and you have done so through means that you and your Storyteller determine together. In repayment, Jasper has made you aware of a secret entrance to his Labyrinth beneath Griffith Park. Provided that you do not mar, harm, or remove any of its contents, you're allowed access to this strange and mysterious location. Rescue service is not included, should you become lost or trapped within the maze.

ANNABELLE

A neonate scarcely a few months undead, Annabelle has become the poster child for a new Anarch uprising in Los Angeles. (Literally a poster child: Unbound Kindred have started putting her face on posters and leaflets that they leave in places their enemies are known to frequent.) Her nightly cause is to apply the strategies and tactics of resistance to authority that she learned as a mortal to the horrifying world of the vampires in which she finds herself suddenly and unwillingly. Resolved to not go quietly into that good night, Annabelle insists that she can and will show the Kindred of Los Angeles that the ideals of their original Anarch Revolt have not vanished — they are merely embers than can burn again if they have the will and determination to see it done.

Lore

● Fires of Rebellion: The same fire that drives Annabelle and ignites the spark of her dream for a better future for all Kindred also burns within you. Taking courage from her example, you have become a leading light among the Anarch Movement in your city. Gain a point of Anarch status and the Notorious (Camarilla) flaw.

●● Soapbox: You've met Annabelle personally, even attended at least one of her rallies, and studied her speeches. You get two extra dice in any roll involving a political debate or confrontation where you invoke her name and philosophies of compassionate change or resistance to Camarilla tyranny. Advocating for change in her name may also earn you unwanted attention and even ire from Camarilla Kindred who oppose her views.

●●● Freedom Over

Oppression: Annabelle's staredowns against those in authority have become known wherever Anarchs gather. Drawing on her example for inspiration, you gain two extra dice on rolls to resist Dominate attempts from other vampires.

●●●● Liberty Over Tyranny:

Annabelle's message has spread to your city. Your association with her, as determined by you and your Storyteller, grants you the equivalent of three dots of Allies among the Anarchs, in any domain. You may call on these associates at any time, for any reason, and by invoking Annabelle's name you can ensure their support for your causes.

●●●●● Independence Over

Servitude: Once per story, if you can persuade her that your cause is worthy, Annabelle will take up your agenda as her own crusade. She'll speak in favor of your goals in public, exert time and influence to try to help you prevail, utilize her own Allies, Contacts, Influences or Resources on your behalf, even put herself at risk to help you achieve your agenda. Her support doesn't guarantee success, but it does ensure that you and your cause are taken seriously. The Storyteller is the arbiter of how this advantage manifests in the chronicle. Her own crusade. She'll speak in favor of your goals in public, and exert time and influence to try to help you prevail.

X

X is a Malkavian with an uncertain history. He claims to be a fledgling, but his rich knowledge of Kindred society suggests otherwise. "X" isn't even his real name, it's just what he calls himself. His main haven is in Santa Monica, where he is part of the coterie of beach vampires known as the Drum Circle. X befriended the Valley Coterie when Jasper asked him to look after Annabelle for a few nights.

Afflicted by perpetual visions and premonitions, X attempts to make sense of the strange omens and portents with varying degrees of success. He claims that anything he says three times is true, leading some to believe that he has unusually strong oracular powers. Though previously spying on the Coterie of the Valley for Baron Therese Voerman, X recently sought their protection and now helps them to safeguard their domain at Griffith College.

— Lore —

● The Sound of Music: Like X, you have an unusual aptitude for music. Once per session, you gain a 1 dot specialization in any Performance roll involving a musical instrument you have never played, or a song you have never sung.

●● Down But Not Out: X's connections to the mortal homeless population extend surprisingly far beyond Los Angeles. Your association with X, whether out of friendship or a boon, gives you cred among that subculture. Whenever you invoke his name when interacting with the homeless of your city, you gain the equivalent of 2 dots of Allies, Contacts, or Influences (your choice).

●●● Guilt By Association: You've met X at least once, and made a good impression. Because of this association, once per story you may call in a major boon someone in your city owes him. The Storyteller decides who owes the boon, limited by what is possible in the domain.

●●●● Signs and Portents: It is no secret that X has an unusual degree of insight when it comes to predicting the future through visions, dreams, and omens. His predictions are not always easily understood, but they are unusually powerful. If you do not possess it already, gain the Level 2 Auspex power of Premonition. If you have already have Premonition, you may actively provoke a premonition without making a Rouse Check.

●●●●● Friends and Family: Because you were once kind to X or someone he esteems, once per story, X has remembered your generosity. Once per chronicle he will travel to wherever you are, and use his supernatural powers of precognition to personally on your behalf. He will provoke a premonition to read your future, or the future of other Kindred or person you designate. Your Storyteller determines what you must do to help X visit you if you are not in Los Angeles, how the vision manifests, and what it means.

EVA

The "White Witch" makes her haven in Griffith Park, where she dwells in solitude. Eva claims membership in House Carna and opposes the Tremere who remain loyal to the Camarilla.

She is reluctant to speak about her mortal life or early Kindred years, alluding only that she has reason to hate and fear Maximilian Strauss. Whatever encounters they shared had cursed her, draining her of color and turning her visage – including her hair, eyes, and skin – completely white.

Eva often performs blood magic at the request of Baron Abrams, perhaps in repayment of past debts. She first met the Valley Coterie when Abrams asked her to identify the clan lineage of a neonate Kindred, Annabelle. Since then she has become deeply entwined with the Coterie's efforts to oppose Camarilla incursion in LA, and has expressed what seems like genuine affection for the Nosferatu Jasper.

◀ Lore ▶

● The Human Touch: Like Eva, you are committed to a kinder, gentler path in unlife. Perhaps you're atoning for past sins, maybe you're trying to set your feet on the path of Golconda, or you're merely sick of the toll taken by the unceasing bloody violence of vampire conflict. Whatever the reason, you strive to follow her example and gain one additional die for all Humanity tests.

●● A Walk in the Park: Griffith Park is one of the most haunted and weirdly dangerous places for Kindred in LA. Once per story, Eva--maybe because she likes you or owes you--shares with you a few of its secret ways. You can pass freely through the park without being harassed or attacked by its ghosts, werewolves, gangs, or other hazards. She also reveals the location of a small (one dot) Haven where you may spend the day safely whenever you visit.

●●● A Friend in Need: Eva always seems to know when she is needed, and your associations with her have tapped into whatever it is about her that creates this deep bond with those you are close to. Whenever one of your Touchstones or someone you love comes under threat, no matter where in the world they are, you feel a cold sensation race down your spine. You've learned that whenever you feel this, somebody very close to you is in desperate danger and needs your immediate assistance.

●●●● Warded Wisdom: Eva has carefully mastered several special Ward rituals not commonly known to Tremere. You've studied her writings and notes on these magical practices and take advantage of her experiments. You may perform one known Ward ritual without the need to expend vitae, but on a messy critical you must make an immediate Willpower test. Failure means something terrible has occurred and you take two points of Aggravated Willpower damage. The Storyteller determines what has happened, and why.

●●●●● A True Friend in Need: Eva is fiercely protective of those she considers her friends. You are one such individual, and once per chronicle Eva will attempt to move heaven and earth to keep you from harm. She will cast Wards on your Haven and your possessions, allow you access to her personal library, even risk herself to defend you from whatever threatens you. She counts as a three-dot Mawla. You gain a dot of Anarch Status and Notorious (Camarilla).

RAMONA

A Gangrel who works with the Valley Coterie on occasion, Ramona is an LA native who looks like she was Embraced in her late teenage years and acts accordingly. She has an affinity with rats, employing her Rat Pack as spies and messengers. She currently takes pride in her domain over Griffith College.

Though she bore to some of the worst excesses of both the Camarilla and Anarchs in the late 1990s, tonight she refuses to indulge in the political machinations of the Camarilla or the violent zealotry of the Sabbat. She's also expressed outright contempt for Anarch leadership's hypocrisy in LA, pointing out that they failed to put their money where their mouths are, and consequently allowed the Free States to slide into decay. She admires Annabelle, however, and suspects that the young Brujah might reignite the spark of freedom's fire among the Anarchs.

◀ Lore ▶

● Campus By Night: Provided that you return it and don't abuse the privilege, Ramona arranges for you to receive a student or faculty ID card that grants legal access to Griffith College. You may visit the campus freely without being harassed by security, students, or faculty who might otherwise object to your presence. While on campus you may enjoy all the facilities and benefits that students or faculty normally enjoy.

●● Sketchbook: Ramona specializes in landscapes and architectural drawings. Because she thinks you're cool, Ramona will make an accurate sketch of any physical location you choose (possibly with help from her Rat Pack). When in possession of the sketch, you gain two dice on all Investigation rolls related to the place she drew. If Ramona isn't in the same city as the location you want to sketch, your Storyteller determines what is required for her to visit.

●●● Unlikely Connections:

Ramona has managed to meet a lot of Kindred in the travels. She is able to reliably get word to any of the characters who also have an LA by Night loresheet. Additionally she can also contact a few very infamous Kindred: Beckett, Theo Bell, or Lucita. There is no guarantee that they will respond, and what they do is at the discretion of the Storyteller.

●●●● Rat Pack: Ramona agrees to ask her Rats to spy for you. Once per story the Rat Pack will infiltrate a place of your choosing and observe what's happening inside, then report back to Ramona, who will tell you what they said. The information you get might not be completely accurate (sometimes details get lost in translation from rat to Kindred), but the pack is uncannily skilled at describing what they've seen and heard. Gain 2 dice on all rolls related to any interactions that are connected to the situation or individuals spied on.

●●●●● Infestation: There's no business or building that can't be ruined by an infestation of rodents. Pick a target building: within a week the location suffers a devastating plague of rats. If it's a private business, it will be closed forever for structural damage and health code violations. If it's a government-owned building, it'll close for the duration of a story. If the building isn't in LA, you need to get word to Ramona before invoking this benefit, and the Storyteller determines any consequences that result from the rat plague you unleash.

BARON ISAAC ABRAMS

Isaac claims he's been involved in the movie business since it first began. An associate of Jeremy MacNeil when The Anarch Movement expelled The Camarilla from LA, Isaac has been the Baron of Hollywood since there was last a LA Prince in 1944. He's been the Valley Coterie's patron for several years, granting them domain over Griffith College in his territory. Isaac has hinted that he and Nelli G have a shared history, and that Nelli has helped him to remove "unwanted obstacles" through espionage or assassination. Isaac is now caught between the conflicting imperatives of expelling the encroaching Camarilla and thwarting the Second Inquisition's attempts to expose the Kindred by suborning the Movement's dissidents. Playing an astute game of politics, he acts as nominal leader of the LA Barons, but it's unclear how much of his power base has been compromised.

◀ Lore ▶

● Red Carpet: Because it pleases him in some way, you're on the Baron's personal VIP list for any and all noteworthy Hollywood events and happenings. Whether it's a red carpet film premiere, opening night at a hot new nightclub, an exclusive fashion show, or on-set access to the set of the latest film blockbuster shooting, you are welcome. All hunting rolls at these places are reduced by 1. If you're not in Los Angeles, this privilege may be extended to one Kindred or mortal of your choosing who is in that city. (But if they screw up, it's on you.)

●● Friend in High Places: A veteran of the Second Anarch Revolt and its aftermath, Abrams knows where the bodies are buried, often literally. Once per story, you can ask the Storyteller to provide you with a secret about Los Angeles and its Kindred. This secret gives you a two dice advantage in any rolls you make concerning the Kindred involved in the secret.

●●● Production Budget: Because he sees some artistic merit in your ideas or because he owes you or an associate a favor, you get access to a film, television, or digital production studio, including mortal tech and production crew, long enough to complete a short project (TV pilot, webisode, podcast, livestream event, etc.). This favor comes with the means to distribute and promote your project. The Storyteller decides whether the project earns you a dot of Fame or Infamy.

●●●● Parliament of Rooks: Once per story, Abrams arranges a personal introduction to and meeting with any other Anarch Baron in LA.

Your safety at this rendezvous is not guaranteed, but you're close enough to Abrams that he might (maybe) object to any serious injuries done to you during your visit. Or avenge them (possibly).

●●●●● Masquerade: Once per chronicle, Abrams will take steps to ensure a risk to the Masquerade that you or one of your associates caused is covered up completely. Use of this favor depends on a strong connection to Abrams that you and your Storyteller work out together. However blatant or potentially catastrophic the incident, the problem goes away as if it never happened: buried in bureaucratic red tape, concealed by misdirection, or whatever it takes to just make it disappear. Mortals will never discover what really happened. Other Kindred might.

CARVER

Carver is the sire of Annabelle. He brought her into undeath after discovering her near-lifeless body immediately after Nick drained almost all her blood and left her for dead, but she broke out of his haven before he could educate her on her new existence. Carver then kept tabs on his progeny for weeks, introducing himself only when their mutual interest in some local Thinbloods coincided. He claims to be fighting the crushing grip the elders have placed on the world, by whatever means necessary. His current whereabouts are unknown.

Lore

● In Your Face: Some Anarchs find Carver's no-holds-barred, ends-justify-the-means methods of fighting Camarilla oppression too provocative. But not you: Carver is your role model, and you strive to follow his example of devil-may-care aggression when it comes to pursuing your goals. Consequently by name-dropping Carver you gain two dice in any rolls for Intimidation rolls against any Camarilla Kindred, who figure that anyone using that name is probably either desperate or dangerous enough to be treated with caution.

● ● Got What You Need: No matter how illegal, obscure, or elusive a piece of gear or equipment might be, Carver knows a guy who can get it. Weapons, drugs, a page from the Book of Nod, new Blood Alchemy recipes, keys to the Prince's limo, whatever. And because you know Carver--or a guy who knows a guy who knows him--you gain the equivalent of three dots of Contacts who can help you find whatever it is you're looking for. Obtaining the desired items is up to you, but at least you know where to start.

● ● ● ● Whaddya Want?: Like a bad penny, Carver always seems to turn up just when he is needed--or at the most inopportune time, depending on your point of view. Getting in touch with him at any other time seems nearly impossible. But not for you: either through the Anarch grapevine or some other means, you can get a message to Carver. Whether he responds and how he reacts is at the Storyteller's discretion.

● ● ● ● Who Loves Ya?: Carver trusts you, or maybe he's just using you.

Either way he is equivalent to a three-dot Mawla. But associating with Carver may bring the suspicion and ire of countless other Kindred, from the local Camarilla to Anarchs he has wronged. At the very least you gain Notorious (Camarilla).

● ● ● ● ● Later, Babydoll: Carver knows somebody in nearly every domain, and he owes a lot of these Kindred a favor. You have gained control over one of these favors, and can require Carver to repay it. You may choose either a Major Boon that Carver must repay personally, or the equivalent of five dots to split among, Allies, Contacts, Influences, or Resources in your domain.

IB

The enigmatic woman known as Ib has been Victor Temple's personal driver, bodyguard, and enforcer for several months. Highly skilled in martial arts, automotive handling, and security, she has accompanied the Valley Coterie on some of their most dangerous confrontations. Most recently, she helped Victor track down and eliminate the remnants of Bobby Blaine's mortal criminal operations in the Valley. She does not, however, work exclusively for Victor. She is the ghoul of Fiorenza, a powerful Ventrue who sent her to help Victor in Los Angeles, as a favor.

◀ Lore ▶

● Driver Education: Like Ib you have a deep understanding of motor vehicles and considerable skill driving them. Gain two dice on all Drive rolls or rolls related to repairing automobiles, and lower by one the difficulty for all stunts or maneuvers performed while you are at the wheel.

●● Enemy Action: Ib has spent many decades as a special operative and she knows how to gather intel on her targets, and she maintains an extensive network of associates on whom she can rely for information and favors when carrying out her missions. With her aid you may designate up to three dots of Allies, Contacts, or Influences and assign them to Ib's network. These Backgrounds all function at one dot higher when used to act against your opponents.

●●● Fiorenza Calling: Because of your close association with Ib, you have also come to the attention of her employer: Once per story you may initiate a call with Fiorenza and expect a favorable response. As a result of the call you may ask the Storyteller one secret about the chronicle. This secret gives you two extra dice on any rolls related to it for the rest of the chronicle.

●●●● Hands on the Wheel: Whether she owes you a favor or wants you to owe her one, Fiorenza has assigned Ib to be your driver and bodyguard for the duration of a story. She will guard you and your haven, but she will not act against Fiorenza's specific orders, and she will report back to her employer on all your activities that she witnesses while she is with you. Ib is a ghoul and the equivalent of a four-dot Retainer built on the Deadly Mortal template.

●●●●● Daylight Raid: Somehow you have gained Ib's trust and respect, to the point where once per chronicle she will organize and lead a team of three other Gifted Mortals on a dangerous mission for you. This could be a smuggling operation, an assassination, even a daylight raid on a Kindred haven. You may designate the target and desired outcome, and Ib will do her best to get it done, but the Storyteller determines how to manage the mission within the limits of the chronicle.